By teaming up with installers Manhattan are able to 'tap in' to the knowledge and expertise of skilled plumbers and installers. "This is essential for us to continue to create products which are not only at the forefront of design, but which remain installer-friendly as the main design factor" says Graham Starkey, Technical Director. Graham Hackett Marketing Manager continues, "As part of the 'information exchange' registered installers will be updated on all new Manhattan products and services and will also be automatically included on all Installer Loyalty Programs".
